

John Kinuthia

John Kinuthia is the founder and CEO of Leadership TIER Consulting, a company that offers high-quality, personalized trainings for personal and professional development.

John is an engaging speaker, trainer and facilitator certified by the John Maxwell Team. Through his presentations, John energizes the audience with his dynamic personality and unique personal stories. He encourages people to take action and step out of their comfort zone.

He was born and raised in Kenya where he was a professor in Business and Math and co-founded a National Leadership Organization for college students that promotes Transparency, Accountability, Integrity, Peace and Participation.

He received his Bachelor of Education in Mathematics and Business Studies from Kenyatta University located in Nairobi, Kenya. John was the co-founder and program director of Young Professionals in National Policy Kenya (YPNP) where students actively participate in a variety of courses and activities that involved research, economics and public policy.

In 2012, John came to the United States of America and decided to leave his work in finance behind. He chose to follow his passion and return to his teaching roots by starting his own speaking and training company. He now works with businesses, schools and nonprofits to develop and train their employees on topics such as communication, gratitude culture, leadership and intentionality.

Education

- Bachelor of Education in Mathematics & Business Studies
 - Kenyatta University
- Certified Speaker, Trainer Coach
 - John Maxwell Team

Speaking Topics

- Effective Communication
- Leadership Skills
- Becoming a Person of Influence
- Team Building & Team Work
- Developing Presentation Skills
- Goal Setting & Goal Achievement
- Facilitation of The Leadership Game
- Youth Topics
 - Positive Self-Image
 - Developing Strong Personal Character
 - Anti-bullying

Book John Today!

John@LeadershipTIERConsulting.com